CASE STUDY

October 2010

Mixed Use Regeneration Scheme

Client: Bluemantle

Location: Holmes Chapel, Cheshire

HOW Planning has been appointed by Bluemantle to advise on an extensive new residential led mixed use development which will transform the former Sanofi Aventis and Rhodia site in Holmes Chapel, Cheshire.

The site has been vacant since 2005 and has been largely cleared of buildings and plant, paving the way for an exciting new high quality development. The scheme's location on the edge of the village and the potential for new homes and employment uses will help support the existing village centre and its facilities.

HOW will be working with the local community to develop the proposals in advance of making a planning application which will aim to provide a good mix of family orientated homes including affordable housing.
